

DECIDING TO GIVE

A guide to personalizing
your philanthropy

People give for a number of reasons, all very personal to them. What motivates you? Perhaps you feel strongly about a cause. Perhaps an organization has touched your life or the lives of loved ones. Maybe you want to create a legacy and set an example that inspires others to give. Or your giving is a way to get your family together and pass along your values to younger generations.

For as many motivations as there are to give, there are ways of giving. The key to having a rewarding giving experience is finding the best fit—for your charitable priorities, financial goals and personal preferences. This checklist is designed to help you and your professional advisor determine the custom giving solution that’s right for you.

YOUR CHARITABLE PRIORITIES

1. How would you like to focus your giving?

- Support organizations I know and trust (e.g., Red Cross or American Cancer Society)
- Support causes that matter to me (e.g., adult literacy or performing arts)
- Effect social change in a field of interest (e.g., education or environment)

2. What sort of impact would you like to make?

(rate each on a scale of 1 – 5, 1 = lower, 5 = higher priority)

- I want to give back to the community that has contributed to my success
- I want to improve the quality of life in this community
- I want to share my good fortune with others who are less fortunate
- I want to construct buildings that will endure for generations
- I want to help address long-term, systemic social issues
- I want to meet specific, current, critical needs
- I want to help the largest number of people possible
- I want to make a significant difference in the lives of a few
- Other: _____

3. Which causes or organizations do you hope to advance with your giving?
